GENERAL INFO

Reform Sex Offender Laws was officially begun in July, 2007, in Boston, Massachusetts.

National RSOL now exists as an incorporated organization, Reform Sex Offender Laws, Inc., and continues to grow as a national organization. We have adopted bylaws, vision, mission, goals and a set of key assertions, have an elected admin team and several working committees which move our agenda, and a yearly conference which continues to grow each year. Lobbying by RSOL affiliates has been extremely effective in several states, and lobbying at the national level is an important goal.

OUR VISION

RSOL envisions effective, fact-based sexual offense laws and policies which promote public safety, safeguard civil liberties, honor human dignity, and offer holistic prevention, healing, and restoration.

OUR MISSION

RSOL will promote laws and programs:

- » limiting registry access strictly to law enforcement agencies;
- » terminating registry requirements upon completion of a court-imposed sentence;
- » reversing retroactively applied restrictions;
- » reforming civil commitment processes;
- » rehumanizing, rehabilitating, and reintegrating former offenders;
- » increasing public safety by reducing sexual offenses; and
- » reducing acts of discrimination, hatred, and violence directed at sexual offenders.

HOST ORGANIZATION

The California Reform Sex Offender Laws organization is dedicated to restoring civil rights for those accused and / or convicted of sex crimes. In order to achieve that objective, CA RSOL will initiate and support legal action, legislation and public outreach.

SPEAKERS

Keynote Speaker

Alex Landon, J.D.

Certified Specialist,

Dr. Landon is a J.D. 1971, University of San Diego School of Law. He is currently in private practice doing San Diego criminal law and civil rights work and teaches Corrections and Sentencing Law and Post Conviction Remedies at the University of San Diego School of Law as an adjunct professor. He is the former executive director of the Defenders Program of San Diego, Inc. and Community Defenders, Inc. He is a member of the state wide Board Governors for VIP Mentors and is the chair of the Local Advisory Committee for VIP Mentors, a program which he started in San Diego in 1975. He served as the chair of the Board of Directors for Community Connection Resource Center from the inception of the organization in 1985 until its closure in 2011.

Mr. Landon is a Board Member with California RSOL and co-author of the book, A Parallel Universe, which is focused upon sex offender issues. He and his co-author have a website at www.meganslawbook.com.

Topic: Finding the Answers

Landon will be tackling some tough questions: Why have sex offender laws become so repressive in the last 20 years? Who are behind these “designer laws” which created harsh sentencing, and harsh conditions once released? Have these laws made communities safer? Are taxpayers getting what they are paying for? How can we stop new laws which are irresponsible and counter-productive? How can we be proactive in trying to amend or repeal bad sex offender laws?

Featured Speakers

Catherine Carpenter, J.D.

Professor Catherine Carpenter, the Irving D. and Florence Rosenberg Professor of Law at Southwestern Law School in Los Angeles, teaches and writes in the area of criminal law.

Professor Carpenter’s primary focus of scholarship is on issues pertaining to sex offender registration laws and sex crimes. Her 2012 law review article entitled The Evolution of Unconstitutionality in Sex Offender Registration Laws, published by Hastings Law Journal, was recently cited in John Doe v. Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (concurring opinion, March 4, 2013), which successfully challenged Maryland's sex offender registration laws on ex post facto grounds. Her most recent article, "On Emotion, Juvenile Sex Offenders, and Mandatory Registration," which argues that mandatory registration of juvenile offenders has been fueled by non-evidence-based emotional rhetoric, is slated for publication in spring 2013 by the Journal of Race, Gender and Poverty.

In addition to her criminal scholarship, Professor Carpenter has worked extensively with the American Bar Association's Section of Legal Education, and she is the principal drafter and editor of A Survey of Law School Curriculum 2002-2010. Her efforts on behalf of law schools recently earned her the designation by National Jurist Magazine as "One of the Most Influential People in Legal Education."

Topic: Sexual Offense Laws and Constitutionality

Carpenter will explore the spiraling nature of sexual offense laws and the lack of constitutional foundations underpinning them, touching on adult and juvenile offenders and the irrationality of strict liability offenses. "

Dr. Suzonne Kline, PSY.D.

Dr. Kline has worked in psychiatric hospitals and forensic settings since 1993. As an independent forensic psychologist specializing in risk assessment and evaluation of sexual offenders, Dr. Kline currently handles competency evaluations and sanity at the time of the offense and provides expert testimony throughout the state of Florida. She recently submitted legislative proposals for an offender transitional housing program and a conditional release program.

Prior to her independent practice, Dr. Kline was administrator of Florida's Sexually Violent Predator Program (SVPP), which involved policy formulation; development and amendment; budget oversight and drafting; providing consultation and expertise to DCF leadership, Florida's Legislature, Office of the Secretary, and Office of the Assistant Secretary for Substance Abuse and Mental Health; coordinating state-wide training for staff and contractors; consulting/presenting on issues related to program development, implementation, and administration; speaking nationwide on issues related to sex offender assessment, treatment, and management; providing expert consultation to other SVP programs nationwide; and providing expert testimony in state and federal courts (including major federal class action lawsuits).

Dr. Kline is currently an expert consultant to the Florida Action Committee (FAC), Caution Click: National Campaign for Reform (CCNCR), and the Missouri Citizens for Reform (MCR) in their respective efforts to reform current sex offender management practices.

Topic: Public Policy and Risk-Based Assessment

Kline will focus on developing effective sex offender management practices using risk-based assessment to make risk-based decisions regarding public safety. The AWA and recent legislative issues such as the USSC report are examples of bad policies. Kline will offer suggestions on how to correct them.

Dr. Clare Ann Ruth-Heffelbower, D.Min.

Clare Ann is founding program director of Circles of Support and Accountability (COSA) at the Center for Peacemaking and Conflict Studies of Fresno Pacific University.

The COSA program in Fresno began in 2007 with a start-up grant from the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation. It has formed Circles for more than 45 sex offenders reentering the community. COSA in Fresno works with state parolees, federal probationers, and individuals released from civil commitment. Clare Ann has served as a pastor, administrator, and board member. She has been involved in restorative justice work for over 30 years including work with the Victim Offender Reconciliation Program of the Central Valley (VORP).

Clare Ann has provided leadership for organizations both in North America and in Indonesia and has worked in partnership with other organizations in community development. She has led organizations through significant transitions and has served as a consultant for organizations at times of change or when they are in conflict. Clare Ann has taught on both the graduate and undergraduate levels, as well as trained many individuals in volunteer organizations. Graduate courses she has taught include Group Dynamics, Family Ministries, Spiritual Formation, and Spiritual Direction. She has extensive counseling and mentoring experience, working with people both individually and in small groups.

Topic: Restorative Justice and Sexual Offenders

Ruth-Heffelbower will give an overview of restorative justice principles with a focus on Circles of Support and Accountability (COSA), which is an evidence-based restorative justice program. The story of COSA will be shared to illustrate the power that support and accountability has in helping released sex offenders live productive and responsible lives, creating a safer community.

LC Screwed By My Plea?

3:30 PM, 90 min, National Room

Larry Neely, RSOL Nat. Admin. Team, RSOL NM

Scott Pawgan, TX Criminal Defense Attorney

Interactive Workshop - Intermediate

Many advocates as well as registrants frequently complain that everyone who took a plea got "screwed over." However, more often than not, this view is due to a mis-understanding of the plea negotiation process. In addition, there is also a common misunderstanding that most defendants in the past went to trial and that negotiated pleas are somehow a relatively new phenomenon.

Objectives:

- » to better understand the importance of the plea bargaining process and how it fits into the overall functioning of the criminal justice system;
- » to understand the relevant considerations that a defense attorney considers before deciding whether or not to recommend that a person plead vs. going to trial;
- » to understand that attorneys have many obligations including conducting a thorough factual investigation and reviewing all of the state's discovery prior to recommending acceptance of a plea.

The presentation will discuss the congressional development of child pornography/enticement federal sentencing guidelines, including a brief discussion of the types of sentences imposed prior to the advent of the guidelines. The presentation will break down the congressional response to the widespread use of the Internet to acquire images and the manner in which the guidelines treat the types of images and the number of images when determining the risk posed by the offender to either re-offend or to progress to a hands-on offense. The presentation will discuss academic and judicial criticism of the guidelines and proposals currently before Congress to change various aspects of the law.

Objectives:
